

Mid-year Review of the F202 and F203 Notes: Background and Rational

The syllabus of the F200 subjects states the following:

The syllabus is up to date with industry developments as at the end of May in the year preceding the publication of the syllabus. However, students attempting F200 subjects should also have knowledge and be aware of topical, relevant and current issues, as these may also feature in the examinations.

Following the enactment of significant legislative changes that occurred during the second half of 2018, the Life Assurance Committee (LAC) and the Short-Term Insurance Committee (STIC) took the decision to perform a mid-term review of the F202 and F203 subject syllabuses and notes. The objective of this review was to ensure that the notes were current and relevant post the legislative changes.

Please note that the subject notes development for the year 2020 will follow the normal review cycle, as explained above. The 2020 note review is not expected to be significant but will ensure that the 2020 notes are also still current.
