Call for Papers and Speakers

Following in the footsteps of a successful 2017 Convention, the Convention Organising Committee would like to invite and encourage individuals to submit their paper and presentation proposals. We are looking for relevant and innovative topics to form part of the 2018 Convention programme. The submissions can be based on formal papers (thereby becoming eligible for prizes that will be awarded at the Convention) or standalone presentations without a formal paper. Presentations can take on the format of a shorter TED-style talk, a longer 45 minute presentation, a workshop or a panel discussion.

To ensure that we maintain the quality of the content and presentations, the topic selection process will be similar to that followed in 2017. This will include telephonic discussions with topic submitters, allocation of Practice Area-recommended sponsors for each presenter and dry runs to select and enhance the final set of presenters.

Please view the Call for Topics below for details on the selection process and key dates.

Would you like join us on this journey? Please propose a topic by clicking here and submit your proposal by 6 April 2018.

The convention will take place on 24 and 25 October at the Cape Town International Convention Centre, and final papers are due by 15 August 2018.

Watch this space to see how the plans for the 2018 Convention evolve. We look forward to your involvement and to welcoming you to the Society's 45th Convention.

Regards,
The 2018 Convention Organising Committee
