

2019 Convention

22 - 23 October

Sandton Convention Centre, Johannesburg

Call for Papers and Speakers

Do you have an interesting, original or relevant topic that you have been working on or thinking about researching? Are you, or your company, involved in ground-breaking and innovative projects that you would like to present to the industry? The Actuarial Society of South Africa's 2019 Convention is your opportunity to do so.

The Convention Organising Committee is pleased to announce that the call for papers and speakers is officially open. Interested individuals are encouraged to submit their proposals by 5 April 2019 by clicking here.

To ensure that we maintain the quality of the content and presentations that our attendees have come to expect, the selection process will be similar to that followed in the past two years. This will include telephone discussions with presenters, collaboration with sponsors on each paper and presentation and dry-runs to enhance the final presentations. A few changes have been made to the timelines, to make the process even more efficient.

For further details on the submission process, the presentation formats and the prizes available for papers submitted, please view the Call for Papers and Speakers document attached.

Watch this space to see how the plans for the 2019 Convention evolve. We look forward to your involvement and to welcoming you to the Actuarial Society's 46th Convention.

Regards
